CHAMPION

DOUBLE

CINCHAS.

Number 2, $2.50 Each.

Number 3, $3.50 Each.

This Cincha has taken the lead over all others where once used. With a single cincha too much pressure has to be used to keep the saddle in place. In a wide Cincha the edges are often loose while the middle is tight. The use of two separate Cinchas is also objectionable, one is liable to be drawn tighter than the other. The loose one usually acts as an irritant to the animal, slipping in a short time through the exercise, and moving forward or backward. By the use of such Cinchas the animal is frequently injured by kidney lumps and other diseases.

The best Cincha is the Patent Cow Boy Double Cincha. It is joined and fastened to fit the belly of the horse, so that the pressure will be equal both in length and breadth. In addition to this, it is easily tightened, the Lario strap from the saddle running lightly over the roller in the ring on the Cincha; this roller in itself does admirable service. Rust does not affect the rings as they are galvanized.

A GREAT OFFER.

The Cincha No. 2, is offered with one year's subscription to the CHAMPION for $5.00 and No. 9, for $6.50. This patent No. 2 cincha, the best ever invented, is actually offered for $1.50 above the price of the subscription to the CHAMPION.

Price of the Cincha without subscription to the CHAMPION is No. 2, $2.50; No. 9, $3.50.

Call at the Office of the CHAMPION

And See the Samples.

Orders by mail will receive prompt attention and the Cincha will be mailed in a registered letter to any Post Office, No. 2 for 35 cents extra; No. 9 for 45 cents extra.

STOCK NOTES.

Maisch & Driscoll, of Pima county, branded 5,400 calves last year.

Sluggish horses are generally made so by the way they are handled.

The cattle industry represents $2,000,000,000 of taxable property.

American cattle are only realizing 12c per pound in the English market, dressed weight.

The Denver & Rio Grande Railroad have reduced their rates on cattle about 12 per cent.

The English colt "Ormonde" won $107,000 in stakes last year for his owner, the Duke of Westminster.

"Hermit," the best sire in England, won stakes to the amount of $113,790 last year. His fee for service is $1,200.

Horse breeding has been reduced to such a system that few chances are now taken in getting the kind of colt wanted.

All railroads entering at Denver will give half rates to delegates and stockmen attending the International Range convention.

The order issued by commissioner Atkins compelling cattlemen to leave the Wallapi reservation in Arizona, has been rescinded.

An exchange says that a big fortune awaits the man who will devise some practicable plan for making horses raised on Western ranges, so they will not be disgraced by branding.

At Omaha last year 657,527 head of live stock of all kinds were received and disposed of, 523,097 head of horses. Cattle and sheep valued at $1,045,615 were slaughtered.

If stockmen will be as united in passing the Hatch bill as they were in defeating the Warner Miller bill, we shall then have an effective law to prevent the spread of cattle disease.

Baltimore markets received 178,581 cattle, 542,026 hogs and 471,036 sheep last year—a loss of 4,450 cattle as compared with 1885, and a gain of 92,843 hogs and 49,345 sheep.—Live Stock Journal.

Extensive preparations are being made for the meeting of the International Range Association at Denver on Tuesday, Feb. 8th. Every stockman who possibly can do so should be present. Many subjects will be brought up for consideration and even the most experienced stock grower will learn something he does not know, about his business.

It is announced that the Hon John A. McShane, congressman from Nebraska, and also manager of the Bay State Cattle company, and vice-president of the Wyoming Stock Growers' association, has contributed $1,000 to the fund for the relief of Mrs. Gen. Logan. Pretty good for a democrat—but then he is a "western cattleman."—Live Stock Journal.

Chicago has learned a lesson which has been very expensive to the farmers of the country. But that city will not again, during the present generation, hire lawyers to go to Washington to oppose needed legislation. The same city is now ready to send a strong delegation to Washington to demand radical legislation on the very subject which it opposed.—Iowa State Register.

A letter from Miles City, Montana says: "Cattlemen are greatly alarmed for the future, owing to the overstocking of ranges. Last year witnessed a heavy influx of cattle, brought here to winter. Large herds were brought over the parched trail from the Rio Grande and in their famished condition placed on ranges already too full stocked so that only a phenomenally mild winter could prevent heavy losses. To make matters worse, the calf crop was unusually large. Up to Christmas the weather was favorable and all was well; but since the temperature has been ranging as low as forty below, and blinding storms before which cattle drift in spite of cowboys efforts, reduces cattle in flesh and so weakens them as to make heavy losses inevitable if bad weather continues.

At a meeting of representatives of the Live Stock Exchanges of the Western cities in Chicago on Saturday last, it was decided to adopt the name "The National Live Stock Exchange" Elmer Washburn, of Chicago, was elected president. The following uniform scale of prices for the sale of live stock was agreed upon: Fifty cents per head for cattle, except calves, yearling and stock cattle which will be $10 per car load, and all live stock driven into yards at the following rates: Cattle, 50 cents per head; calves, 25 cents per head; sheep and hogs, 10 cents per head. It was also decided to dispense with the services of traveling men and all manner of drumming for business.

The A. T. & S. F. railroad has secured control of the St. Louis, Kansas City and Colorado road, which extends their system direct to St. Louis. The southwest will have direct connections with the west St. Louis stock yards, to which a major portion of the cattle from this country will be directed. The co-operation of all the trunk lines of railways necessary to make a grand success of these yards has now been secured and in every instance voluntarily. The extortionate railway charges which have been one of the distressing features of the present depression in cattle, will not prevail in connection with shipments of stock to west St. Louis. The utility and necessity of the stock yards enterprise inaugurated by western cattlemen becomes more apparent every day and will result in thousands of dollars being saved to cattle producers. Even Jay Gould, the prince of robbers, admits that the west St. Louis stock yards will have a demoralizing tendency on the Chicago bandits and their operations.—Stock Grower.

The Times-Democrat commenting upon the late sale of Cole's circus, at New Orleans, says: "His ring horses had been sold when Cole discovered that unintentionally three particular duns had been allowed to go. They had been with him since the earlier days of his venture in the circus business, and had aided him in accumulating the $500,000 that he now possesses. They seemed like a part of his own family, and were as affectionate with one another as three kittens. He determined not to part with them under the circumstances, and, seeking out the purchaser, bought them back. Then turning to Mr. W. F. Leonard, the livery stableman, who was standing by, he said he would never consent to have those horses pass into the hands of any one who would make them work. He could not think of their being driven to a wagon, cart, or dray, receiving blows and abuse from careless owners or cruel drivers. They should be bled to death. This was his determination, as he thought it would be an easy mode of putting them out of the world and away from laborious duties. Mr. Leonard suggested that the use of chloroform would be a better and less painful mode. This was finally decided upon, and a reliable man procured who was to have performed the operation. They were all collected in the circus tent. There were Cole, Leonard, the riders and the clowns, the ringmaster, the tumblers and leapers, and the three pet duns. Calling the little mare by name one of the actors told her to kiss them all good-by. As if she knew the fate awaiting her the intelligent animal, stretching forth her head, kissed each and every one an affectionate farewell. This was more than they could stand. Tears glistened in every eye, and the sacrifice was put off. Cole had no place to take them to, no farm, no stable. So Mr. Leonard promised to find some one who would assume charge of them under a guarantee never to work them, but to keep them in good order until old age should claim them for the grave. This he did, and the three old circus horses, well fed and cared for, will dash no more around the saw-dust ring."

What True Merit Will Do.

The unprecedented sale of Boschee's German Syrup within a few years, has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for the speedy and effectual cure of Coughs, Colds, and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough and ease the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the cause of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a pure healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and all long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the and. Price, 75 cents, large bottles.
